TIME—A bright, sunny afternoon in April, 1976

PLACE— The office of Joshua W. Busybody, Esq.

BILL: Say, Joshua, you certainly have a beautiful office here. Now that we've had a chance to look around and also to enjoy your refreshments, let's get down to the business you said this group is here to discuss.

CHARLIE: Yes, I've heard some rumors as to why we were asked to come, but please clear up the matter.

DICK: I thought the news would spread, especially since my friend Bob did a great deal to arrange this meeting. At any rate, on June 8, 1976 the Class of 1951 of Weymouth High School, our class, will hold its twenty-fifth reunion. Suggestions have been made that at this meeting the class, one of the finest ever to graduate from Weymouth High School, dedicate a memorial of some sort in its honor. You people have been chosen to serve as a committee to determine the type of memorial and what inscriptions shall be engraved thereupon. It would probably be a good idea if we talked over our school years today, so we might prepare a list of events to include on that memorial.

MARGIE: Certainly news to me, Nancy, how about you?

NANCY: Not entirely. Since I had previous notice, I've been doing a little thinking on the subject. We have a lot to do though, so we had better get right down to business. Who will serve as secretary and take down some of the ideas we discuss during our meeting?

BOB: I'll do that. Since I was one of the leaders in the plan, I have written up an introduction for your consideration. Give me your opinion.

> We, the Class of 1951 of Weymouth High School, wish to dedicate this memorial to the memory of our noteworthy class in order that these past members of Weymouth High School may never be forgotten. We will attempt to set down on this memorial some of the accomplishments and experiences of this class, the names of whose members should be inscribed for ever in the memory of the town of Weymouth. Dated June 8, 1976 on the occasion of the twenty-fifth reunion of the Class of 1951.

PETE: That's good, Bob. I tried to get together a few ideas regarding the freshman year as you asked me, but of course there weren't too many activities in which we took part. Being "insignificant" freshmen, we were all looking forward to the days when we would be the 'heroes' and 'heroines' of the school. But, the first year, we were spending most of the time becoming acquainted with life in a new school.

PAT: And how we needed to become acquainted! Remember searching for the proper gym, trying to get to the study hall at the right time after split lunch, waiting patiently in those long lines in the lunch room, hustling out at fire drills, and receiving the sympathetic looks of teachers as we crept timidly into silent classrooms one minute late? I could go on for some time, but to what avail?

JIM: Say, Buzzy, wasn't that the year some of the students tried to keep us posted on current school events by issuing their paper, the Spectator?

BUZZY: Right, Jim, but its success was extremely short-lived. I think I received one of the big surprises when attending my first football rally on a day when Friday was Monday with the periods shifted around in such a way that we were all confused to the limit. The following day was also a big event—our first football game at Legion Field. How we cheered on the heroes of the junior and senior classes!

Bob: We certainly did, Buzzy, and some of us were hopefully looking forward to the day when we would be taking their places.

Sheila: We didn't need to feel too downhearted, because some of our friends were soon to play a rather important part in school affairs by being elected to the Student Council for 1948-1949. Is there anything else to add for our freshman year, Tom?

Tom: No, so let's consider the sophomore year. I've done a little thinking about that year and have a list for you to consider. Here goes.

Our classmates were certainly surprised upon returning in September to see the newly painted and furnished rooms on the third floor. However, the classrooms were not so impressive as the new laboratory facilities which became available. This whole situation led to some confusion, because the library had been changed from the third to the second floor.

Miss Betty Gill, who had served as an exchange teacher from England, was replaced by Mr. Leslie Dicker of London. Miss Dorothy Pearson was now back with us after a year in England and Miss Ruth Mayo had left for Europe in August.

On December 5 the annual athletic dance was held.

The annual project of the carpentry boys in the Vocational School that year was to build a house of Cape Cod design for Mr. Thomas Lyons, Jr.

The agricultural department boys started their paper, the F.F.A. (Future Farmers of America) News in January.

In May, the school sponsored a successful Science Open House, for which the various science classes prepared a number of interesting exhibits.

Conrad: I think we should mention the track teams. That was the second season in which Weymouth won all its winter dual meets and did extremly well in both the Northeastern Interscholastic and State meets.

Jim: True, and I well remember the outstanding record of Mike Murphy, who broke one of the oldest records—that of the mile.

Jack: That probably fairly well covers the sophomore year. So let's get along to the junior year, when we were actually participating in most of the school events.

Jim: Didn't our classmates do a good job on the athletic teams that year? In football, it was the first time Weymouth received a class-A rating! The team won all its regular season games and was selected to participate in the Exchange Bowl game at Manning Bowl, Lynn. Even though downhearted by the loss of this game to Saugus owing to the completion of a last minute desperation pass, the team was rewarded with an educational trip to Florida and the Orange Bowl game during the Christmas vacation.

Dick: A great baseball season entitled Weymouth to win a play-off position in the Eastern Massachusetts Tourney at Braves Field. Unfortunately, the post season jinx proved too much for us to compete when we opposed Watertown.

Peter: The track team's season was highlighted by Jimmy Kilburn's breaking the pole vault record (eleven feet). In general, it was a successful year, with our taking the Bowdoin Interscholastic and South Shore Interscholastic meets.

Bill: Good, Pete. Now, how about the good time we had at the Junior Party? The class showed it had some talent through the entertainment that was provided—the clever skit on a typical English class, the baton twirling, the acrobatic dancing, the piano and trumpet selections, etc. Of course, we should give credit to the artists as well for the beautiful decorations of floral scenes.

Sheila: I was in the musical group that year and know our Spring and Winter Concerts gave a great deal of pleasure. A spectacular festival was held at Attleboro. The parade with its wonderful bands and lavish colors was breath-taking! We received A and B ratings for Choir and Band respectively.

Our days of hard work were rewarded by recreation of various types, such as the wonderful banquet and the "chilly" outing at Fearing's Pond, Plymouth.

BILL: Let's not forget Open House that year. Wasn't it highlighted by the Science Fair?

FRED: Right, Bill. The theme was "Science in Everyday Life". The owl attracted loads of attention to the biological exhibit. On the more serious side, Fred J. Spencer's display of electrical equipment proved most interesting.

MARGIE: We elected our class officers that year. Although none of them were able to come today, we should give some recognition in June to our choices—President, Jim Kane; Vice-President, Dick Alemian; Secretary, Connie Godfrey; and Treasurer, Ann Shields.

ANN: I wonder if every year in the spring the outdoor assembly is still held at which various scholastic and athletic awards are distributed and a Harvard book is presented to an outstanding student in the Junior Class. I'm quite certain Karl Anderson was presented the book in 1950 by Mr. Brown.

BOB: That's correct, Ann. The highlight of the year to me was its closing with an outing at Craigville Beach, Hyannis. Not only did our classmates have an enjoyable time, but also many spectators were amused by some of the more scientific-minded students who were conducting experiments regarding the force of gravity on freely falling bodies. One result was found—a blanket cannot be expected to withstand the force of 240 pounds over any long period of time. Some of these so-called scientists were also members of Division IIIA3, who made a futile attempt earlier in the year to demolish the new chemistry quarters.

EDDIE: It seems that at last we've reached the most important of the four years—our senior year—for consideration. That year started with our facing a great period of uncertainty because of the Korean crisis. It was only too soon that war reached home and two of our classmates, George Ward and Buddy Roberts, were called to serve with Uncle Sam. Remember how the boys in the National Guard were wondering from day to day when their unit would be activated?

FRANK: I sure do. During the year, however, we had a good many opportunities to forget temporarily some of the more important world problems. The school took pride in the football team, led by co-captains, Jim Kane and Whitey Nelson. Teamwork and the superior coaching of Harry Arlanson brought Weymouth to the class-A title.

BOB: Wasn't that Brockton game a thriller! Even Bill Cunningham was there to see us gain another victory. He was impressed with the game—and with the cheerleaders, among whom were Lois Terry, Majorie Daniele, and Rosalie Kane.

LARRY: The Revere game was another great one, but the radios in the stands giving reports of Brockton defeating Waltham were receiving as much attention as the players on the field.

MARGIE: The team was rewarded by the trip to the South to play Landon High at the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Florida. How delighted the fans were to see Weymouth triumphant with a score of 34-18 and so win the Eastern Seaboard Championship!

JACK: A great reception was given the team (by the fans who were lucky enough to get tickets) at the banquet in December. White sweaters were given to all players and special recognition was given to Jim Kane, who was awarded the Oscar Horton Trophy, and to Bob Savola, who received the Anonymous Trophy—one for making the greatest progress.

NANCY: I would say that the decorations the Student Council had at the Victory Dance also were a tribute to the team. I recall the pennants, caricatures of players, et cetera which were used. Oh, what a good time we had.

FRED: The dates February 8 and February 9, should go down in stage history because of the great class production, "Dear Ruth". Plays in the past had been good, but this one was superb. What an outstanding group of performers—Sally Davidson, Fred Hersey, Barbara Fanning, Karl Anderson, Jean Tirrell, and the others!

ANN: Now that we're talking about outstanding people, I recall two awards given to the leaders in the class. Jimmie Kane was chosen as the Good Government Day representative and Dorothy Ash was selected for the D.A.R. award.

SHEILA: The music groups presented some wonderful concerts too. The hard work of these groups had made Weymouth so music-conscious that the colorful State Festival was held here in May.

DICK: As graduation time was nearing, we all became a little more appreciative of what the Guidance Department had been doing for us. The assemblies to help us in selecting vocations, the opportunities provided through college days, the individual conferences, all aided us in setting a goal.

MERCEDES: I don't think anybody has mentioned the Senior Party yet. That was loads of fun, thanks to the hard work of some of our ambitious classmates. As a contrast to the informality of the party, I well remember the formality of the Prom in April. That, I guess, was a memorable night for all of us.

TOM: Right you are, Merci. I can also clearly remember that interesting and successful Science Fair which was highlighted by an exhibition of interplanetary travel—right in keeping with the times in 1951.

It seemed that the eyes of the world were focussed on us as we walked down the shady driveway to our seats in the hot sun and listened to the well-prepared speeches of the high honor essayists, Katherine Whittle, Barbara Fanning, and Donald Perkins. The day with its banquet and reception ringing with merriment soon drew to a close and with it our happy years at Weymouth High. Well I remember awaking the next morning and realizing that the days of real decision were suddenly upon me.

BOB: I have written down a rather long list of events, I'll try to get them in a concise, organized form for presentation at the reunion.

DICK: Good, I guess we have finished the work for today. Hope to see you all in June.

That just about brings us down to that ever-memorable day, June 6.

Class Prophecy

It is the year of 1961. Here we are at the White House. We are having the first reunion of the Class of 1951 of the Weymouth High School. We have been trying for over a month now to get this famous class together. Most members are living in all parts of the United States. A few have settled in the far corners of the earth, but are still loyal to our school and country.

The last arrivals have just entered now. All are busily hurrying about, trying to find their old chums or listening intently to tales of adventure or travel from adventure-loving classmates.

A reporter has been assigned the task of compiling for the class the latest information on the progress of each member. I am, therefore, pleased to report my findings to the members of the Class of 1951.

JAMES AIKENS—Jim is making only one hundred forty-eight dollars a week, but he plans on doing better.

RICHARD ALEMIAN—The well-known surgeon, Dr. Alemian, has just discovered the use of ether. Now his patients may rest in peace.

MARILYN AMIRAULT—"Mal" is the competent secretary in the office of a large concern. No wonder so many men like to go to that office.

RICHARD ANDERSEN—Dick couldn't find enough speed in carpentry work, so he now drives a taxi.

KARL ANDERSON—If you have any mathematical problem, just ask the expert, Karl. He will sometimes answer your question in the form of a cartoon. This, Einstein never did.

SHIRLEY ANDERSON—The New England Baptist Hospital had to give up its head nurse recently, because Shirley is now the wife of a prominent car dealer.

DAVID ANTONELLI—We have a "long-hair" with us today in the person of David Antonelli, who conducts the Boston Pops Orchestra.

WILLIAM ARCHIBALD—Bill is now the president of Gadgets, Inc., manufacturers of devices to make life easy.

BARBARA ARNOLD—Barbara, though now married, hasn't lost any of her charm. She was recently named "Mrs. America" and her husband, a former football star, is taking the bows with her.

DOROTHY ASH—Way back in 1950, Imogene Coca was top telivision star. But look what we have now! The famous Dotty Ash has achieved that distinction today.

DANIEL BAILY—Dan's first ambition was to be on the street department, but he did not quite make this goal. Instead, he is a State Trooper on Route 3.

WILLIAM BALFOUR—Bill is no exception to the success of the carpenters of 1951, for he is now a famous business man.

HERBERT BARKER—As we open the door of another contractor's office, we find Herb with his feet on the desk, relaxing.

JOANNE BASCOM—Joanne was recently awarded the American Airline "Stewardess of the Year" award for her heroism in the performance of her duties.

KENNETH BATES—Ken, who was a seaman in the navy, was chosen to go to Annapolis. He will soon graduate as an ensign.

CHARLENE BATES—Ask Charleen about the status of the Agricultural Department in Washington D. C. She should know, since she is now the secretary to the Secretary of Agriculture.

JAMES BELCHER—Jimmie has made a big name for himself as an entertainer. He has taken over Bob Hope's radio show.

BEVERLY BENJAMINSEN—Beverly is now the secretary to the president of the General Motors. She is soon to be promoted once more—to be the wife of her boss.

JAQUELIN BENNETT—"Jackie" is planning to retire as head buyer for a large department store to marry a certain blond

WILLIAM BENNETT—Bill enjoyed English so much at Weymouth Vocational School that he is now back there teaching it.

WILLIAM BENNETT—Sorry, but Bill isn't in this country any more. Seems as though he is a top sergeant in the army.

CAROLYN BENTLEY—Send your children to the "Miss Bentley Kindergarten". Carol has finally opened her own school and hopes that all her members of the Class of 1951 will send their children to her.

LENA BERADI—Lena, who has been working in the office of a large Boston firm, recently won the "Fastest Typist in the World" contest by typing 213 words a minute.

WALTER BLAKE——Wally is now the leader of a jazz band and plays nightly at a night club in New York.

MARJORIE BLANCHARD—Margie is doing well as head nurse in Chelsea Naval Hospital. She has just been voted by the sailors "The Girl I Like Most to Check My Pulse."

FLOYD BONNER—Floyd owns a gas station in Weymouth Landing and, in his spare time, has been very successful as a stunt driver.

PATRICIA BONI—Pat is now a prominent star of stage and screen; she is expected to receive this year's Academy Award for acting.

MARY BRADY—Mary started out her career as a medical secretary, but she liked her boss so much that she decided to marry him.

CATHERINE BRESNAHAN—Selina has just been promoted to supervisor of the telephone operators. Don't be suprised if you pick up your telephone and hear a little giggle instead of the usual "Number please".

BEVERLY BROOK—Beverly did so well at Chandler Business School that she is now private secretary to one of Boston's leading executives.

JOHN BROWN—John is working laboriously at his new position, which carries a title with it—"Mattress Tester".

ROSAMOND BROWN—Rosamond has just given her two weeks' notice to her boss. She is leaving to take over a more important role as housewife.

BRUCE BURGESS—After several years of persistent pleading from Einstein, Bruce has finally consented to become his private tutor.

NATHANIEL BURGESS—Nat has just invented a new golf ball which, after being hit, will return to the golfer. His only regret is that someone didn't invent it during his caddying days.

PATRICK BUTLER—Pat has followed in his father's footsteps, but life is rather dull, as the dare-devils haven't taken any chances lately.

JUNE CALLAHAN—Senator June Callahan from Massachusetts was recently re-elected to a second term by a landslide. She has become famous for her senatorial debates on the Cross-Country Skyway.

RHODA CARLIN—Rhoda has been very successful as art editor for a well known fashion magazine.

THOMAS CASSESE—The Boston Celtics have acquired a new star in the person of "Tiny Tom" Cassese. Virtually unknown for years, Cassese came into his own by developing a tricky backward hook shot.

DONALD TUCCI—Donnie will wind up this year's track season in the Boston Garden, where, for the third year in a row, he will defend his fifty-yard dash title.

NORMA TRUFANT—Norma has now realized her ambitions and, after several years of diligent work, is one of the leading surgeons at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

ANGELO UMBRIANNA—After ten years of research, Angie has written a book entitled "How to Preserve the Life of Your Car." The information given is based on his own experiences.

DONALD VAILLANCOURT—Don has taken over Ted William's position in left field for the Red Sox. He has been just as successful in raising future baseball stars of his own.

ANNE WAIBLINGER—Have you heard of Anne's secretarial school, featuring a new style of shorthand? It's rumored that she has an offer to start another school in New York City. How famous can you get?

NEAL WALO—Neal owns and manages the Washington Redskins, and is known throughout the country for his shrewd strategy. He just came up with a new platoon system, known as the Walo dubble-switch.

WILLIAM WARREL—Billy is the world's lightweight champ. Bobby-sox fans throughout the country were brokenhearted when he married a beautiful movie star.

JOHN WEIR—Jack as anyone could have guessed, is a success. He has been graduated from M. I. T., and now is head foreman of the Draftmen's Department.

JOAN WELCH—After a most successful career as a dress designer, Joan has settled down to raising blond, curly-haired boys.

PHYLLIS WENTWORTH—Phyllis, after several years of being a faithful worker, will soon become a junior partner in one of New York's flourishing business concerns.

STANLEY WESTON—Stanley has become a clever cartoonist since leaving Weymouth High School, and is now employed by the Saturday Morning Post.

MARY WHITE—Mary has just returned from appearing in a fashion show in New York. She took up a modelling career after leaving high school.

NANCY WHITE—Nancy had the honor of being the first member of the Class of 1951 to be married.

PATRICIA WHITE—"Patsy," as would be expected with her pleasing personality and friendly manner, is a success. Upon graduation from Katherine Gibbs, she secured a position with the United Nations as a linguist.

WILLIAM WHITE—Bill is that man you hear broadcasting the football games every Saturday over station WHDH. He is doing a fine job of it, too.

PATRICIA WHITMAN—Pat is now head nurse of the children's ward at the South Shore Hospital, where all love her.

KATHERINE WHITTLE—Upon completion of her studies at Radcliffe, Kathy accepted a position teaching English at a well known college.

ROBERT WHITTLES—Having graduated from engineering school, Bob has been awarded the contract to build a new school in Weymouth.

ROBERT WILKSTROM—Bob has been honored by having his footprints in all new concrete foundations.

CAROLE WILLIAMS—Have you seen Paramount's new musical, "Lile's True Love"? That vivacious brunette playing the lead is Carole Williams, Weymouth High's gift to the stage.

ANNA XAVIER—It looks as though John Hancock Insurance Company were about to lose one of its best secretaries. Anna's engagement to the famous crooner, Bill Greene, was announced last week.

HIGH HONOR ESSAY

FAITH, THE LEADER

Barbara Ann Fanning

Nor since the beginning of the world has there been so unstable a period, a period fraught with danger and uncertainty. In order to be prepared to meet present-day problems and to assure responsibility, we study other critical periods, by so doing we realize the surety that any country gains from education and the right way of living, and, most important of all, from faith—faith in God. Emily Bronte, an esteemed writer of the nineteenth century, conveys that thought in her lines:

> "No coward soul is mine,
> No trembler in the world's storm-troubled sphere:
> I see Heaven's glories shine,
> And FAITH shines equal, arming us from fear."

Now we are engaged in a war instigated by Russian leaders who are trying to demolish Christianity in the entire world. Unfortunately, too, there is moral and political corruption within our own country. Through a series of crime investigations we have learned of men who, through gambling, smuggling, and other illegal actions, are endangering the American way of life. Yet we are encouraged to stand firm. Why? From our study of American history we have learned of other periods which were also considered the "worst". Were not those barriers conquered? Was it harder for the Pilgrims to overcome their obstacles of famine, disease, and Indian attacks? Leaders like Miles Standish and Governor John Winthrop, whose strength of character was not weakened by desperate times led them through emergencies. What else brought them through? No one can deny that it was faith in a cause and, above all, faith in the Almighty God. Was it not discouraging, a few generations later, for the English Colonists, after winning independence from England, to find themselves embarking upon a new and untried path of government? Yet they had faith in their leader, George Washington, whose own faith in God is exemplified through his unexcelled record of achievements. His leadership and that of others, such as John Hancock, Benjamin Franklin, and Thomas Jefferson, aided the colonies to establish a powerful democracy. They set up a code of laws in the constitution, a document that has never been surpassed because it is based upon individual rights. In more recent times our ideals have carried us through two World Wars. We belive that faith and the leadership of such men as Dwight D. Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur, both of whom acknowledge a power greater than themselves, and will bring us through any upheaval in Europe and the turmoil now raging in Korea. Regardless of what religion we profess, we must not overlook the need for belief in God; and never should we allow anyone to persuade us to think otherwise.

The youth of today must be ready to shoulder all problems leading to the ultimate outcome of the many challenges now existing, appreciating the fact that to be rid of the atom bomb, hydrogen bomb, and the threat of World War III, we must depend on more than technical skill, military might, and natural and economic resources. The longed-for peace will be brought about by leaders, who, after seeking spiritual aid, work together to establish an international code that all countries will honor, respect, and uphold.

Each one of us should try to be an example to those who have lost their faith by portraying an expressed belief in God. Humility is a sign of strength, for it gives God the chance to evidence His goodness to each individual. We learn that fear and cowardice are deadly sins; they are inverted faith. Through distorted religious beliefs, strength to fight against invading evils becomes weak. Everyone should grant that with God all things are possible.

We are cognizant that we are about to face challenging tests, but, taking courage from the outstanding example of our forefathers, we should not fear. We know that a recognized faith in God will be the "FAITH that shines equal, arming us from fear."

THE ROAD AHEAD

Donald Walker Perkins

TODAY, as high-school graduates, we find ourselves at the dawn of a new life. For the past twelve years our parents and teachers have worked to educate us and to impress upon our minds the ideals of true Christian living. The importance of these teachings is well illustrated by military and political leaders, such as General Eisenhower and President Truman, who frequently refer to our way of life as America's most effective weapon for freedom. After graduation some of us will continue our education; others will take their places in the community immediately. All of us will have the opportunity to practise these lessons and teachings. Our attitude and the extent to which we succeed will determine not only the welfare of our country, but also the trend of future world affairs.

Our world today needs the young man as a soldier to defend our way of life from aggression, but much greater is his importance as the builder of a peaceful world. The young man must be dedicated to the Christian principle of aiding his fellow man, of understanding him better, and of finding ways to work with him, that all may live a happier, more satisfying, more peaceful life.

We are at the foot of the ladder of life; the future is ours. We can succeed or we can fail. This thought is especially well expressed by Ella Wheeler Wilcox: "Life is a glorious privilege. We can do with it whatever we choose, provided we begin early and are in deep earnest." Therefore, let us make our aim in life the fulfillment of the greatest aspirations of our parents and teachers. As we mature, our youthful weaknesses being replaced by the stability of age, we gradually combine knowledge with the experience of added years.

The world in which we live is a world of beauty. The simple and inspiring things of life are overshadowed by the more urgent economic problems and critical international situations. Before our eyes lie the miracles of Nature, free to those who desire their enjoyment. Many of the world's greatest leaders have gained their inspiration from occurrences as simple as the dropping of an apple, whence originated Newton's brilliant theories. It is easy to become so involved in the maze of life that one loses appreciation of the world about him. Let us carry with us the inspiration of youth, to brighten the days of labor and responsibility which lie ahead.

This attention to the beauties of nature and the virtues of right living depends basically upon spirtual strength. As a nation our economic and political accomplishments exceed our spiritual aspirations; this fact is well illustrated by the great seal of the United States. It contains the Latin motto, E Pluribus Unum, symbolizing our unity as a nation, the governmental side of life. The reverse side, bearing two mottoes symbolizing God's providental care, is rarely mentioned. Could it be that we have emphasized the material side of life, but have not used our spiritual potential? We, as the citizens of tomorrow, have the opportunity and the responsibility to uphold not only the political but also the spiritual ideals of the true democratic way of life.

The workers of the future must have the courage to support these convictions. Our chosen leaders must be statesmen, not mere politicians. They must be dedicated to the welfare of the nation. As a generation we must have the courage to solve national problems; individually, we must have the courage to triumph over our personal problems. The result might well be measured by the following quotation: "What we stand for makes character; what we fall for makes reputation."

Soon the years will scatter the members of this graduating class into widely separated occupations. But wherever we may go, regardless of our position, we may carry with us the ideals of good living. Booker T. Washington, the famous Negro educator, expresses this thought with the words:

"I have learned that success is to be measured, not so much by the position that one has reached in life, as by the obstacles which he has overcome while trying to succeed."

THE LIGHT OF KNOWLEDGE

Katherine Mary Whittle

"Youth, with swift feet walks onward in the way.
The land of joy he has all before his eyes;
Age, stumbling, lingers slowly day by day,
Still looking back, for it behind him lies."

Youth progresses, equipped with enthusiam, power , physical strength, untapped capacity, and a natural aggressiveness, but with the lack of adequate experience. Age has not the same physical strength; hence it may lack agressiveness, but it has acquired the background of knowledge and experience.

How is Youth going to learn the unknown? By education, be it formal or informal. Every day that we live we are becoming more widely educated. In the Divine Plan, Youth comes first, followed by Maturity, then Old Age. Youth looks for help to those people, gifted and experienced, who offer Youth a challenge which will make him the greater for having accepted it. And what is that challenge? As a common French saying puts it, "Ask the young people; they know everything."

Many of the greatest men of modern times have recognized this challenge and have conquered it. Let us take, for an example, Walter Percy Chrysler. There are few of us who have not heard of the Chrysler car, but there are also few who know his story. Walter Chrysler has been referred to as "the boy who reached the top on his own." At the age of seventeen, he began his career as a five-cent-an-hour locomotive wiper at a roundhouse. After many years of continual advancement, he had seemingly reached his goal, as president of his own corporation—a position which he held until 1935. Yet, never satisfied that he had reached the top, Chrysler persevered in his chosen field, even though he had become a millionaire and an engineer of wide repute. To this man of humble beginnings is credited the planned construction of the Chrysler Building in New York City, a structure of modern magnificance, second in size to the Empire State Building.

Some of our graduates today will further their education in college; others in the business of mechanical fields; while others who are in the service of our country will have first hand opportunity to learn, by observing the customs and peoples in other lands. Still, we must not forget that education has its duties as well as its opportunities or privileges.

From the beginnings of civilization, the educated man has been respected. We find in the writings of Aristotle, the Greek philosopher, that upon being asked how far superior educated men were to those uneducated, he replied, "As much as the living are to the dead." Another of his beliefs was that education was an ornament in prosperity and a refuge in adversity. Never in the history of mankind has it been not only necessary but compulsory for the experiences of Age to be handed down as a basis for the enthusiasm and willingness of Youth.

In comparison with Aristotle, who lived before Christ, are the veiws of the modern English writer, Joseph Addison, who remarked, "What sculpture is to a block of marble, education is to the soul." Then in consideration of the present, we find that President James B. Conant of Harvard University said in a speech before the National Citizens Commission for Public Schools, "Educators quite rightly stress the importance of education for democratic living. One test of success or failure is the spirit of the youth of the neighborhood."

We are eager; we are willing; but at this time we are ignorant. We look to you who have met and conquered the problems of the past. From you we will take the torch of a free man in a free world. May it be ours to hold high through the troubled days that lie ahead! The Light of Knowledge will make clear our understandings, our obligations, and our responsibilities for Tomorrow.

Reflector

Nineteen fifty and nineteen fifty-one marked the close of the Reflector's 28th year of publication. The staff has worked conscientiously to provide the student body with an enjoyable magazine worthy of their support.

This year the Reflector staff has been entertained at the meetings of the Southeastern Massachusetts League of School Publications held at Pembroke, October 18, 1950, and at Kingston, April 5, 1951.

We are justly proud of the quarterly magazine and the Reflector Yearbook, edited and published by the students of Weymouth High and Vocational Schools; and we wish to express our sincerest appreciation to the students who have submitted material from which the reading matter of the magazine has been selected; to our faculty advisers, Mr. Prescott B. Brown, Miss Alice White, Mr. James F. Steele, and Miss Evelyn Silvester, for the invaluable advice and assistance which they have so graciously given us, and to Mr. Harry F. Duncan and Mr. John Collins, who have made possible the printing of the Reflector here in our own Vocational School.

Student Council

The Student Council took part in many of the school activities this past year, the highlight being the Victory Dance held in December at the end of the football season. This group also participated in the assemblies, which varied in their types. Many were held for the victorious football team and other sports; others were educational discussions or motion pictures.

The most important duty that is under the supervision of the Student Council is the maintenance of the lunch room which is to be kept clean and orderly at all times.

The officers are as follows:

Richard Alemian—President
Eleanor Corbo—Vice-President
Mary Brady—Secretary

The band, consisting of approximately sixty-five pieces, met three days a week under the capable direction of its leader, Mr. Russell H. Jack. Last fall, under the guidance of Drillmaster Walter Smith, the band performed between the halves of each football game. When the football team returned from Jacksonville, Florida, the band joined a large rooting section at South Station to greet them.

After the football season, the band began to rehearse in earnest for the approaching concerts. The Winter Concert containing a variety of interesting music, was a great success. In March the band accompanied the basketball team to the Tech Tourney at the Boston Garden.

In the spring, three members of the band attended the New England Concert Festival in Auburn, Maine. After the Spring Concert the band participated in the Eastern Massachusetts State Festival, to which the Weymouth music groups were host. In May the band attended the New England Festival in Boston, again gaining a superior rating. The band's appearance at graduation marked the close of a year of outstanding success.

The band officers this year were:

Robert Slayer, President
Richard Fitts, Vice President
Dexter Koopman, Secretary
Howard Ellis, Treasurer
Barbara Crowell—Ann Olsen, Librarians
Jaquelin Bennett, Head Majorette

Orchestra

THE orchestra has completed another successful season under the leadership of Mr. Jack. Two rehearsals a week were spent in preparation for the school concerts, in which the orchestra did an exceptionally fine job. This year the orchestra was improved by the acquisition of several new instruments— a cello and two basses.

Several of our members attended the New England Concert Festival at Auburn, Maine, and participated in a great 150-member orchestra composed of the top music students from all over New England. The orchestra concluded their program with a successful audition at the State Festival, their first appearance at such a contest.

Choir

DURING the past year, the choir, under Mr. Jack's leadership, has rehearsed each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. Consisting of eighty boys and girls, the choir sang at the Winter and Spring Concerts, both of which were a great success.

Two of its members attended the Concert Festival at Auburn, Maine, and the entire group auditioned at the State Festival, which was made possible by the co-operation of the school music groups.

The year was successfully concluded with the choir's appearance at the New England Festival in Boston, where they won highest honors.

The officers of the choir were:

Bruce Taylor, President
Edwin Barnard, Treasurer
Anne Olsen, Secretary

Senior Play

On February 8 and 9, the Class of 1951 presented the two-act comedy, "Dear Ruth", written by Norman Krasna. The cast was carefully guided along their path of acting by the patient instructions of Miss Edna Flaherty.

The letter-writing of Ruth's highly-imaginative sister, Miriam, caused an uproar in the Wilkinses' household. The entanglements which followed between Ruth and Lt. William Seawright were patiently understood by Ruth's fiancee, Albert Kummer. The seriousness of the affair was lightened by the humorous outlook of Judge and Edith Wilkins.

A hard working properties committee under the guidance of Miss Ruth Mayo also deserve a great deal of credit. On the committee were Phyllis Palmer, Sally Parker, and Beverly Dunning.

The popular music played by the Cavaliers was greatly enjoyed between the acts.

In the cast were:

Lois Gourly, Dora
Jean Tirrell, Edith Wilkins
Barbara Fanning, Miriam Wilkins
Karl Anderson, Harry Wilkins
Sally Davidson, Ruth Wilkins
Frederick Hersey, Lt. William Seawright
Robert McGrath, Albert Kummer
Marjorie McIntosh, Martha Seawright
John Hackett, Sargent Chuck Vincent
Edward Philbrick, Harold Klobbermeyer
Nancy MacCallum, Promptress

Lois Terry, Rosalie Kane, Joan Williams, Betty Marin, Marjorie Daniele, Natalie Loud, Jane Mahoney, Lorraine Prady, Helen McGonnigal.

Cheerleaders

Weymouth High definitely kept its reputation of having the prettiest and peppiest cheerleaders on the South Shore again this year. The girls began another successful season by introducing several new cheers and by appearing in a slightly different uniform that proved to be an improvement upon the uniform of the past.

This year's girls had the privilege of being the first Weymouth cheerleaders to proudly lead the cheers for our class-A championship football team before the new stands at Legion Field, and to carry on at the Boston Garden, when our basketball team played in he Tech Tourney.

Seniors receiving gold footballs at the Athletic Banquet this year were Rosalie Kane, Marjorie Daniele, and Captain Lois Terry. They wish the best of luck next year to the remaining girls of their wonderful squad.

Football

The Weymouth High School football team of 1959 is one which will go down in the annals of Weymouth history as one of the all time "greats." This team, though it lacked experience at the beginning of the season, had the will and enthusiasm to work hard for victory. Under the careful tutoring of Coach Harry Arlanson a two-platoon system was soon developed, and from that time on there was no stopping the Maroon and Gold from Weymouth. Team after team felt the bitter pangs of defeat; even arch rivals like Quincy and Brockton could not cope with the power and finesse of the Weymouth team. At the end of the season Weymouth had defeated every team on the schedule, to become the Eastern Massachusetts Class-A Champion. An invitation to play in the Kiwanis charity game at the famed Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Florida, was accepted, and Weymouth earned the great distinction of defeating the Florida State Champions, Landon High School.

Basketball

The 1950 edition of the Weymouth High School basketball team, under Coach Bill Erwin, capitalized on their height, speed, shooting ability, and reserve strength to rate a berth in the Eastern Massachusetts Basketball Tournament at the Boston Garden. After the first game it was predicted that Weymouth possessed a team that would bear watching, and the Maroon and Gold lived up to that statement by winning ten of the fourteen games played. Two of the games were lost by the slim margin of one basket, and in each contest Weymouth led until the final seconds of play. On the basis of a fine record Weymouth, as I have said, was selected to play in the Class B division of the Tech Tourney. In the first game Weymouth defeated South Boston, but on the following night they lost to a strong Matigon team, whose every shot seemed to find the basket.

Cross Country

The Cross Country team, directed by Mr. Oral Page, enjoyed a fine season this year, winning six out of the eight dual meets on the schedule. The squad, comprised of about twenty-five boys, combined to place a respectable fourth in the South Shore Meet and sixth among all the schools competing in the State Meet.

Track

Coach Oral Page once again produced a fine track team for Weymouth High School. Favored by lack of snow and frigid temperatures, the team was able to keep in good physical condition throughout most of the season which scheduled four dual meets, the Northeastern Meet, and the State Meet. Weymouth began the season by defeating both Dedham and North Quincy easily. However, the competition in the Northeastern Meet was much keener and the same success did not result. The Brockton meet was a heart-breaker, for Weymouth lost by one point. Nearly the same thing occured in the State Meet, when Weymouth lost to their old rival Watertown, this time by only one half a point. The season concluded with a decisive win over Lynn Classical.

Baseball

After a successful season last year, Weymouth is looking forward to another winning team this year. A great many veterans are returning to the squad along with new prospects from the junior varsity, to insure experience and skill as well as depth during the season ahead.

Library Club

This year the Library Club became a social club as well as a working one. Besides our duties as library assistants we have had the pleasure of entertaining the library clubs of neighboring towns and visiting them. On April 2, Miss Mayo gave an illustrated talk on England at a tea our club gave for the library clubs of Quincy, Braintree, and Hingham.

We should like to thank Miss Gloster for her wonderful leadership and welcome those who are interested in library work to become members next year.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club has enjoyed a number of varied and interesting meetings made possible by the capable program chairman, Marilyn Smith. There have been short plays, Spanish songs, and games played in Spanish. Perhaps one of the best meeting was the Christmas Party, which was held in the library. The traditional pinata and refrescos contributed much to the general enjoyment.

Another meeting worthy of special mention was one held in March, when we saw the technicolor film, Around South America. This motion picture gave us a more concrete idea of the countries and people whose language we are learning.

The members offer sincere thanks to Miss Palmer and Miss Waterman, our faculty advisers, for the time and advice they have given this past year.

The officers included:

Ann Shields, President
Mary Jane Mahoney, Vice-President
Jeanne Saloma, Secretary
Jean Rafferty, Treasurer
Marilyn Smith, Program Chairman

Allied Youth

During the past school year, Allied Youth has been introduced at Weymouth High School by Roy Breg, Executive Secretary, who spoke at an assembly in the hall.

Following his address a large group of students discussed with him the method of chartering a post here.

Mr. Erwin Stuart, faculty adviser, helped to organize the new club, which met on the first and third Mondays of each month. The club sponsored such school activities as an assembly period where the Gator Bowl game films were shown and an assembly sponsoring alcoholic education films shown in Room 306.

There are twenty-five charter members. The following students are officers:

John Saloma—President
Thelma Sprague—Vice-President
Myrna Watson—Secretary
Jean Rizzo—Treasurer

Audio-Visual Club

The Audio-Visual Aids Club, which is under the direction of Mr. Paul C. Cleaves and co-managers, Robert Hanson and Neil Pratt, consists of twenty-five active trained members and a training group of fifteen. The chief duties of these members is to aid teachers in the presentation of motion pictures and other visual aids.

New members are first trained to operate the sound projectors. They gradually are taught to operate all equipment including recording machines and the lighting equipment in the auditorium.

The Audio-Visual Aids Office contains a film-strip library of nearly five hundred titles. This library is at the disposal of all the Weymouth Public School teachers. A twenty-five page film-strip catalogue has just been completed by Ann Waiblinger and Claudia Cobb under the direction of Mr. Cleaves.

Robert Hanson and Neil Patt are in charge of assigning films to teachers and of training new members. The maintenance of projectors and other equipment is handled by Charles McChesney, Ralph Rose, and Robert Strautman. Films are kept in condition by Calvin Blenis.

Secretarial duties are performed by Ann Waiblinger, Claudia Cobb and Grace Studer. They are largely responsible for the successful operation of the club. All orders, confirmations, cancellations, shipping data, film data, and reports of use are effectively controlled by them in co-ordinating the use of all audio-visual aids in the schools.

Oratorical Contestants

The first elimination in the annual oratorical contest, sponsored by the Weymouth American Legion Post 79, was held at the Weymouth High School auditorium on February 5, 1951.

The contestants taking part and the themes of their essays were:
David Conrad—"Our Constitution—Worth Having, Worth Defending."
Charles Crehan—"The Constitution—Temple of Liberty."
Norman Fulton—"Reciprocal Rights and Duties."
William Gauthier—"Our Constitution—Worth Having, Worth Defending."
Faye Papageorge—"Our Living Constitution."
Ann Peaslee—"Our Constitution, Ordained by Free Men, Sustained by Free Men."
Frederick A. Spencer—"The Bill of Rights—Worth Having, Worth Defending."
Norma Trufant—"The Constitution in a Changing World."

Charles Crehan, Norman Fulton, William Gauthier and Faye Papageorge were the four contestants selected to participate in the district competition, held at Legion Hall February 6, 1951, by the following judges:

Mr. Prescott B. Brown
Miss Alice White
Miss Virginia Nye
Miss Dorothy Murphy
Miss Marie Ghiorse

Faye Papageorge emerged the winner, with Charles Crehan as runner up, in in the close race for District Champion.

The judges at Legion Hall were:

Mrs. Rogers B. Finch
Mrs. Flora McGrath
Mr. Edward Haviland
Mr. Joseph Killory

Let it be known that we, the Class of 1951, appreciating all that has been done for us and ever holding in our hearts happy memories of our school days, hereby set up and establish this our last will and testament.

ITEM 1.—To Mr. Mapes and the School Committee, we leave an extra large economy-size bottle of aspirin to cure the headaches that go with making Weymouth schools the very best.

ITEM 2.—To Mr. Whittle, we do hereby express our appreciation for the understanding help and guidance that he has given us during our four years.

ITEM 3.—To Mr. Lyons, we leave a pocket-size microphone, so that he may be heard in the far corners of the hall.

ITEM 4.—To Mr. Parker, we leave a "welcome mat" to make the boys feel at ease when called to the office.

ITEM 5.—To the members of the faculty, we express our hope for the materialization of your dreams—fifteen students to each class; two spare periods a day; and coffee served at ten.

ITEM 6.—To Room 211, we leave the money to build a French door and a staircase leading to a new terrace on the roof below where we may bask in the sunshine. We believe this will do away with spring "beach-i-tus."

ITEM 7.—To Room 212, we leave an insurance policy covering damages from the falling ceiling and swinging doors.

ITEM 8.—To Rooms 216 and 217, we leave a peace treaty and twelve dozen erasers, thus ending the year long battle.

ITEM 9.—To Room 218, we leave a deep pile, wall-to-wall carpet to deaden the sound of absent-minded students returning for books.

ITEM 10.—To Room 307, we leave a firemen's-pole express to the lunch room.

ITEM 11.—To the IV-C divisions, we leave lounging chairs and foot stools, plus an occasional girl to pep up the classes.

ITEM 12.—To the library, we leave a large 22-inch television set to rest students' minds of arduous labors.

ITEM 13.—To the cafeteria, we leave a juke box and soda fountain to be installed immediately.

ITEM 14.—To the freshmen, we leave the privilege of mingling with upper classmen.

ITEM 15.—To the sophomores, we leave all privileges that go with being upper classmen.

ITEM 16.—To the lucky juniors, we leave our talent, manner, wit, beauty, and football ability.

ITEM 17.—To special sections of the building, we leave nets attached in appropriate places to catch pencil sharpeners, books, inkwells, and erasers as they float through the air.

ITEM 18.—To Coach Arlanson, we leave another Class-A Championship football squad—equal to the one of 1950.

ITEM 19.—To Mr. Mazzola, we leave a clock in the hall, all police equipment, including police stand, whistle, and white gloves to direct the traffic between classes at the second floor landing.

ITEM 20.—To Mrs. Driscoll, we leave special privileges to go to the lunch room whenever hunger overpowers her.

ITEM 21—To Mr. Steele, we leave a rocking-chair and footstool so he may be comfortable when the class talks.

ITEM 22.—To Miss Petrucci, we leave a step ladder for her convenience when pulling shades and adjusting windows.

ITEM 23.—To Mr. McCarthy, we leave an extension telephone for the desk, so that he won't have to make so many trips to the phone.

ITEM 24.—To Miss Vining and Miss Hill, we leave a ceiling-to-floor mirror attached to the back of the wall of 307, so that they may see what is going on behind the desk covers.

ITEM 25.—To Mr. Brown, we leave a new noiseless front door, and a dictionary of his own words and pronunciations.

ITEM 26.—To Mr. Whitmore, we leave a stick with a chain attached to it so it can always be in readiness.
